Industry Linkage:

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) Project:

JKPS has a partnership with Confederation of Indian Industry (CII) to follow up & implementation. JKPS will continue its effort with subsequent batches of student. Therefore is expected to open up new opportunities for employment as well in a programme that gives final year students the opportunity to work with industries situated in Delhi and NCR region to identify strategic CSR opportunities. Student groups of size 5-6 each are being identified to spend about a month with an industry, where they will understand the business on their systems and processes, supply-chain. HR practices, etc, while getting tours of their facilities and conducting interviews with Decision makers and Heads of Deptt. Finally the team has to prepare a report of CSR Opportunities and Recommendations based on the observations and the data collected from the industry, which has to be presented before the business's management team. CII's Centre of Excellence for Responsive Corporate Citizenship will assist businesses in taking these recommendations to the implementation stage, which will be filled up by CII. JKPS will continue efforts with subsequent batches of students. The effort is expected to open up new opportunities for employment as well.

Being a part of the JK Group, JKPS is already a part of an industrial mindset. The well-known JK brands acts as a learning experience as well as platforms where the student participants can test their skills. Thus, JKPS provides a rich corporate umbrella and a wide learning platform for students.

JK Padampat Singhanian Institute of Management & Technology's (JKPS) Centre for Corporate Relations is its flagship division for strengthening its network with the top-most organizations in the country. To begin with, JKPS has the advantage of being backed by the JK Group and its chain of corporate linkages.

Under the aegis of the Centre for Corporate Relations, JKPS invites distinguished people from the industry to come to the Campus and interact with faculty members and student participants. Such interactions ensure that the academic content delivered at JKPS is always tune with industrial demands. The institution is driven by the philosophy that all teaching-learning processes in different areas of Management must be in sink with industrial practices. That's why a world class business school must work out a strategic synergy between theory and practice. It is exactly this synergy that JKPS is seriously building. In fact, its entire academic content has been carefully designed after consultations with management experts and top business leaders from the industry.

The institution's corporate cell works in close tandem with the faculty members and student participants. It identifies special training requirements for participants in areas like communication skills, writing abilities, facing interviews and making effective presentations. The flagship Personality Development Program offered to every participant improves their interpersonal and communication skills and improves their chances of getting good corporate placements.

In addition, the Centre for Corporate Relations is working to develop special competencies in areas like Entrepreneurship, Small Business Management, Retailing, Logistics, Supply Chain and Services Management. It develops research competencies in areas like Gender issues, Business Ethics and Environmental Management. The idea is to offer advanced training and management consulting solutions to organizations in different domain areas.

With its own calendar of seminars, workshops, conventions and corporate meets, this special cell works to ensure that JKPS's students are picked up by the best organizations in the country. JKPS's Placement Cell, a part of the Centre for Corporate Relations, assists student participants in career planning, Job selection and pre-induction training. It draws its strength from the parent JK Organization. The Placement Cell is Jobs and training assignments; it is also about carefully shaping careers of bright young managers with diverse talents and interests.

Apart from liaison with the industry the cell constantly monitors the job market, profiles changes in skill and knowledge requirements and feeds information to the curriculum committee for modification in the academic content, depending on industry feedback. Another major responsibility of the Cell is to work in tandem with the Personality Development Team and continuously track the professional development of each student to ensure that the best companies find them suitable for hiring in good positions. Industrial projects, internship assignments, study tours and summer jobs are all handed by the Placement Cell with full support from the Faculty Members.
